Allen County Agricultural Society—
terworks mains on the 1009 block of Central avenue. The mains will probably be laid along this street by the end of next week. This will be the first city water service enjoyed by the residents of Central avenue.

The had been remodelling his house and decided that he wished it to be modern. However, the block it to be modern. However, the block water will be used for two years by the resident, or 10 per cent of the cost of the lock stallation. Dr. Davis took the matter up with the people of the block and with others persuaded them to agree to take water.

It is thought that this improvement will increase the value of the property on that block considerably. This is because of added convenience, comfort and the protection. After the water is, in, it will not be necessary to purmp water and carry it into the house every time any one wishes to take a bath, and the improvement will do away with much extra pumping when it becomes recessary to water the lawy or garden.

Then, in case of fire on the block, it will not be necessary to stretch the horse across from North Kanssa svery time across from North Kanssa svery time across from North Kanssa svery time across from North Kanssa svery times and across from North Kanssa svery times across from North Kanssa svery times and across to the lieuted times to the property times and times to the lieuted times to the property times and times to the lieuted times to the lieuted times to the

Then, in case of fire on the block. It will not be necessary to stretch the hose across from North Kansas avenue, a block east, or from North Jackson street, a block west as would be the case under conditions hitherto. It is also likely that within the year a demand for city water will be felt more than ever by the people on the other blocks of Central avenue and that the improvement will be secured. The need for this has been especially apparent on account of the recent dry apparent

The need for this has been especially apparent on account of the recent dry spell. Lawns and parkings which have not been sprinkled regularly are beginning to wither. And the man of the house has been reflecting how much easier and pleasanter it would be to let the hose do the work of watering the garden than to put in spare time pumping and carrying water.
